

MEDIA RELEASE

SHENZHEN AIRLINES FLIES XI'AN-SHENZHEN-KUL

Beginning 29 March 2010, Shenzhen Airlines flies passengers four times weekly from Xi'an to Kuala Lumpur via Shenzhen.

The new Xi'an-Kuala Lumpur route will help increase tourist arrivals from the northwest of China. To date, there are 125 weekly direct flights from China to Malaysia, providing 25,154 seats.

The General Manager of the Malaysian branch of Shenzhen Airlines, Steven Weng, said that the Xi'an to Kuala Lumpur route is the third air route the airlines opened after five years of operations in Malaysia. "The other two routes comprise Shenzhen to Kuala Lumpur and Nanning of the Guangxi province to Kuala Lumpur," he added.

The route utilises Airbus A-320 type of aircraft. Shenzhen Airlines takes off from Xi'an at 6.00 pm and lands in Kuala Lumpur at 1.30 am after a stopover at Shenzhen. On the return leg, Shenzhen Airlines leaves Kuala Lumpur at 2.30 am and reaches Xi'an at 11.10 am.
